November 2021

Shumaker never diverts its focus from serving our clients in new and better ways. Shumaker recently announced the appointment of Partners Laura Evans, Doug Miller, Mike O'Callaghan, David Rectenwald, and Mechelle Zarou to serve as national leaders for its newly established lines of service. The new lines of service focus on emerging and in-demand fields of law, all driven by rapid advances in technology and policy. These include health law; environmental and energy; intellectual property and technology; labor, employment and pensions; and wealth strategies.

At Shumaker, we continually strive to anticipate and identify trends to make a positive difference for our clients by helping them successfully navigate through emerging sectors.
